*"This is only the beginning, believe me - time for pushback!"

David Duke
on Charlottesville*

At the last very last minute I have had to scrap the editorial I had planned to this one. I always leave the editorials until last for just this reason - last minute changes brought on by circumstances.

This morning I had messages from various online Buyers of Valkyrie Films saying they couldn't pay for their films due to PayPal not accepting their payments.

I thought it was just a glitch and so at 8.00 am this morning I rang PayPal to iron out what I thought must be a minor error. No such luck!

PayPal have suspended my account indefinitely and will not give me any reason as to why. I have been trading through them since 2009 without one problem and during that time they have processed hundreds of transactions taking their cut and % each time.

Ironically a few months back I received an email for them thanking me for my long and valued support as a verified Seller!

PayPal have acted as Judge, Jury and Executioner. I am minded of that seminal novel by Franz Kafka (played brilliantly on screen by Anthony Hopkins), "The Trial", where a man in some unnamed Eastern European country is dragged out of bed early morning, tried and condemned to life imprisonment and they will not tell him what, if any offence he has committed.

I started Valkyrie Films off as "FarViewVideos" in 2009 and have gradually built up the library to nearly 500 titles, many of them dealing with subjects of interest to White Nationalists be they from the Third Reich period (Triumph Of The Will and Olympia); conspiracy matters - Crop Circles, the House of Rothschild, Rothschild 2015, Holocaust revisionism and much more.

Valkyrie Films have even produced our own titles, exclusive to us such as Being Evita, ISD: A Life Well Lived; Beyond the 11th Hour - the life of John Tyndall; Blackshirt!; Duce! And more....

Without any doubt, Valkyrie Films is the BIGGEST film library for Nationalists that we are aware of.

The cash engendered has been spent on upend IT equipment; printers; mobile phones which I donate to branches and groups for political use (I have 12 available at the moment if anyone wants one - FOR POLITICAL USE ONLY!) I have also three spare inkjet printers I am giving away to the Cause - FOR POLITICAL USE ONLY!)

Plans are now well advanced for the resurrection of the White Nationalist Party (tell me an alternative? There isn't one!). This included jntm only this near fortnightly magazine, which you should print off and is designed for duplex printing or you have a two weekly 12 page colour magazine to give out, but also for a new 28 page magazine "White Nationalism Today" for which a new editorial staff is being assembled.

We are even looking at properties in West Yorkshire to use as an HQ and maybe even a social club.

Big plans and big money which is why Valkyrie Films income is SO CRUCIAL!

You can buy online with cheque or postal order. Go to valkyriefilms.blogspot.co.uk and give us your support.

I have also applied for a Credit/Debit card acceptance arrangement with the WNP Bank and am awaiting confirmation - which will mean we can take orders for films, merchandise and books over the phone.

Please - support Valkyrie Films. We are supporting you and OUR cause!

Combating AntiFa

Giving them a taste of their own medicine!

This Big White Nationalist Fella lets an AntiFa weed see the good old American 'fist in the face'

This AntiFa Harpie gets a sharp shock as she is spotted with a Molotov Cocktail at a recent Antifa attack in California. Ahh - justice is beautiful! She isn't!

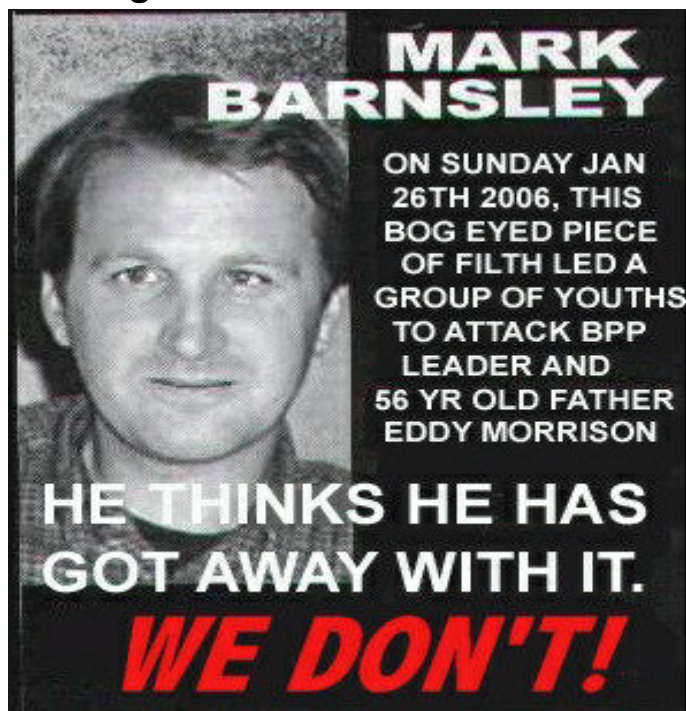

The best defence is ATTACK! They want to Punch a Fascist? - well time to give them a FIGHT!

Defend your right to march - defend your right to speak - defend your right to assemble and ABOVE ALL - show AntiFa what its like to come upon against Real White Nationalists!

John Tyndall attached by AntiFa (UK), London 1997 before a BNP meeting.....

Meanwhile in Canada - another AntiFa bites the dust.

Gosh - violence...the Class Warriors don't know what they've started....

The wit and wisdom of Josef Stalin

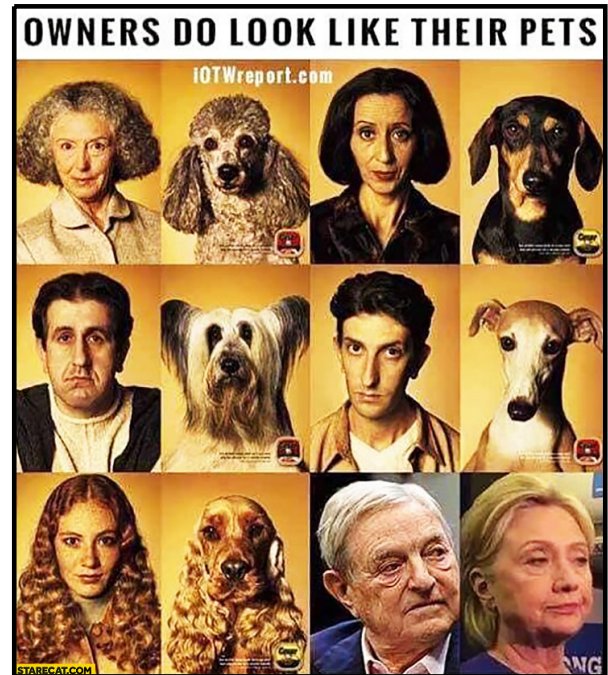

Stalin reads his report to the Party Congress. Suddenly someone sneezes. "Who sneezed?" Silence. "First row! On your feet! Shoot them!" They are shot, and he asks again, "Who sneezed, Comrades?" No answer. "Second row! On your feet! Shoot them!" They are shot too. "Well, who sneezed?" At last a sobbing cry resounds in the Congress Hall, "It was me! Me!" Stalin says, "Bless you, Comrade!"

Q. How do you confuse a feminist?

A. Tell her that you refuse to allow her to make you a sandwich.

Hillary Clinton is ending her campaign, but really in the bigger sense it's sad because, think about it, there goes right down the drain the Clinton dream of a being a two-impeachment family.

In The Meme Time...

Remember this hero?

Our media said that Nelson Mandela was a "political prisoner". They forgot to mention that his political activity was blowing up a train full of children. The important thing was: they were oppressive white children. Now there is a genocide in his country against all people of European descent. They forgot to mention this about their 'social justice warrior'. They pretend to fight racism, but race is what really matters to them.

This is an authentic reproduction of original regalia. The original was in the chapter room of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Florence, Alabama.

THE KU KLUX KLAN: AN AMERICAN CURIOSITY

This is something of a “history lesson,” which all White Nationalists would do well to know -- especially if they can “read between the lines.”

Everyone is familiar with the KKK, their now-uniform appearance. But this was not always the case; the original Klan was started in 1865 in Pulaski, Tennessee by several former Confederate officers. As such, they were not allowed to hold political office, go into business, or vote.

They were bored. One suggested that they start some sort of club, and the KKK was born, just to have a bit of spooky fun. That phase of the group only lasted about a year.

These people were not stupid bigots, nor were they “unreconstructed rebels” intent on continuing the American Civil War, as leftist propagandists tell you. They were officers and gentlemen, well-educated men who knew Greek and Latin. The name of their new club was derived from the Greek word “kuklos,” or circle. And their loyalty to the once-again United States was clearly stated in their constitution; they were honorable warriors, who accepted honorable surrender.

But as conditions grew worse in the ruined American South, it became obvious that they could serve a real purpose; to act as a true vigilance committee, protecting the people (ALL of them) against roving mobs of newly-freed slaves that had no idea what to do, mobs of starving returning veterans, and mobs of deserters from both sides of the conflict. They could not oppose the oppressive occupation regime, or its puppet governments, openly; the adoption of disguises, for man and horse alike, was necessary. As word of their activities spread, the small club became a large organization. There was no standardized “uniform” per se; each individual “den” adopted its own, as desired.

It is well known that former Lt. General Nathan Bedford Forrest was elected “Grand Wizard” at the Klan’s first national organizational meeting. Less well known is that the post was first offered to Gen. Robert E. Lee, who declined partly due to age, suggesting a younger man was needed. Prominent Mason, General Albert Pike, was a national officer; which is why the leftists insist he now be removed from his resting place at the Masonic House of the Temple in Washington. Their war against all Confederate memorials, especially those dedicated to General Forrest, is by now well known.

The original KKK may not have been “officially disbanded” by Gen. Forrest in 1872, but he did issue an order to destroy all regalia, banners, etc. relating to the order. A first-hand account of the original Klan can be found in the book, “The Ku Klux Klan: Its Origin, Growth, and Disbandment” by one of the original 6 members.

When the Klan was revived in 1915, by self-styled “Colonel” William Simmons, one of the old members of the original KKK stated, “we didn’t really have much in common with those new fellers.”

Gen. Albert Pike, in Masonic regalia

It is the “modus operandi” which should be of particular interest to modern White Nationalists, especially in repressive countries where Whites fear to take action against rampaging mobs of “migrants.”

Each “den” was largely autonomous, and when a particularly touchy job needed to be done, they would often get the assistance of someone from another “den,” someone not known in the local community. This, of course, was probably easier in days before mass communication existed.

But the lesson of the Ku Klux Klan is very clear. When our backs are against the wall, and survival is threatened, the White man (or woman!) will find a way to fight.

BITS AND PIECES

by Eddy M.

Morrissey has expressed sympathy for the founder of the far-right English Defence League, Tommy Robinson, who was jailed last week for 13 months for being found in contempt of court. Robinson had broadcast an hour-long video to Facebook outside Leeds crown court, making comments that risked the collapse of a trial, which still has reporting restrictions placed on it. He had previously received a suspended sentence for another incident of contempt, after he attempted to film defendants in a rape trial in Canterbury last year. Hundreds of Robinson's supporters massed outside Downing Street in protest following his arrest. Speaking on blogging site Tremor, Morrissey said: "It's very obvious that Labour or the Tories do not believe in free speech ... I mean, look at the shocking treatment of Tommy Robinson."

It was a rather bizarre and revealing skit that was performed by actor Mark Wahlberg and the animated movie character, "Ted" (voice by Seth MacFarlane) at a recent Oscar Awards Show.

The dialog was written by ed movie co-writer Wellesly Wild and honed by Seth MacFarlane. Both Wellesley and MacFarlane are the brains behind the animated TV show, "The Family Guy". The dialog went like this:

Ted: "Look at all this talent, all his talent in one spot. There's Daniel Day-Day Lewis...there's Alan Arkin... there's Joaquin Phoenix. And you now what's interesting? All those actors I just named are part-Jewish."
Wahlberg: "Oh. O.K."

Ted: "What about you? You got a berg at the end of your name. Are you Jewish ?"

Wahlberg: "Am I Jewish? No, actually, I'm Catholic."

Ted: (whispering to Wahlberg) "Wrong answer. Try again."

Wahlberg: "What ?"

Ted: (still whispering to Wahlberg) "Do you want to work in this town or dontcha? (Then addressing the audience directly) That's interesting, Mark, because I'm Jewish."

Wahlberg: "No you're not."

Ted: "I am. I am. I was born Theodore Shapiro and I would like to donate money to Israel and continue to work in Hollywood forever. Thank you, I'm Jewish."

Wahlberg: "You're an idiot."

Ted: "Yeah, well, we'll see who the idiot is when they give me a private plane at the next secret synagogue meeting." (End of sketch).

@ Letters to the Editor

How can May look we voters in the eye if we accept Theresa May's Brexit deal?

I have taken the decision to resign from the Conservative Party after a lifelong membership. Having studied the Chequers Brexit "deal" I believe I have no choice. The deal in my opinion is not right for the United Kingdom, our democracy, the Conservative Party or indeed the millions who voted to leave the EU.

This "deal" is worse than "no deal" and ironically far worse than a deal – a Canada-type free trade agreement – that European Council President Donald Tusk himself offered, saying: "I propose that we aim for a trade agreement covering all sectors and with zero tariffs on goods. Like other free trade agreements, it should address services."

Instead of exploring this perfectly acceptable solution, a small cabal in Downing Street has dreamt up a complex arrangement that seeks to recreate large parts of the EU's single market. This comes with serious costs. Accepting a "Common Rule Book" sounds innocuous but means accepting EU rules over the regulation of our domestic economy with no say.

Being subject to EU laws and ruling will have major consequences for our external trade and prosperity. If we have to conform to the letter of EU law we would be unable to import goods from other states that we recognise have equally high standards but different laws.

I heard that told Parliament could still change these laws if it wished but there would be unspecified "consequences". This replicates the key problem with the EU, a fig leaf of sovereignty covering the modesty of EU vassalage. We would taking dictation from Brussels.

It is worth dwelling on the "consequences". A reduction of market access certainly, but it could be worse. The Government previously and recklessly acquiesced to an EU demand for a Northern Irish backstop. Essentially if the "deal" does not preserve the free flow of goods across the Irish border then the EU could insist on keeping Northern Ireland in the EU's customs and "regulatory area".

If changing our laws led to the disruption of the free flow of goods we could never in practice diverge from EU law without splitting our country in two. This deal strikes at the heart of the integrity of the United Kingdom with perilous consequences.

Then there's the fact that this "deal" will be bad for our democracy. The vast majority of Tory MPs voted for the referendum but accepted the result and voted to notify the EU we were leaving. If we end up leaving in name only, accepting EU rules over which we have no say, collecting EU taxes and have the threat of a backstop hovering over us, how can politicians look the we electorate in the eye and say they respected our decision? Big corporate lobby groups congratulating themselves on this wheeze should consider whether this is really good for the country and them.

Next, this "deal" (it's nothing of the sort, it's an opening bid, which we'll just surrender more of later) will be a disaster for the Conservative Party. It is clear to me that it's not supported by a substantial body of Conservative MPs and a larger proportion of conservative members, activists and voters. Maybe the officials in Number 10 feel this is not a concern as Labour, Lib Dem and SNP MPs will carry the deal forwards against Conservative opposition.

This is the logic of the madhouse. If the plan is to split the Conservative Party the precedents are there: Peel put the Conservatives out of office for a generation, Maastricht did the same. This is not a luxury the Party can afford with a Corbyn government in the wings. May is treating British voters with contempt.

The tragedy is that it was perfectly avoidable.

The EU has the option of a Canada-type zero tariffs trade deal with additions where necessary. The Brexit Department had a White paper setting out customs proposals to facilitate trade over the Northern Irish border. Why were these ideas pulped?

We are told by William Hague, the former Foreign Secretary, that a Canada deal was only possible with a Northern Irish backstop. He tells us we need to accept there is a majority in Parliament for this deal. This is self-serving nonsense. The UK and EU have both said they will not build new infrastructure on the border.

It is two years since we voted to leave the EU. We have discarded a workable agreement from the EU but accepted nearly everything else. As Conservatives and Unionists we are now asked to take a vow of omerta while our Government brings forward a sub-par negotiating hand which will be further chipped away. We should not remain silent. What Theresa May has done is tantamount to TREASON. She is handing over the keys to British independence FOREVER!

Britain's 'worst ever' child grooming scandal exposed: Hundreds of young girls raped, beaten, sold for sex and some even KILLED (Reprint from the Sunday Mirror - stunning revelations from a Labour supporting newspaper)

SPECIAL SUNDAY MIRROR

INVESTIGATION: Authorities failed to act over 40 years – despite repeated warnings to social workers – with up to 1,000 girls, some as young as 11, abused in Telford

Up to 1,000 children could have suffered in Britain's worst known abuse scandal – where sex gangs targeted girls as young as 11. The rape hell of vulnerable young girls in one town – Telford – went on for a shocking 40 years, the Sunday Mirror can reveal. As many as 1,000 children could have suffered at the merciless hands of perverts and torturers in Telford since the 1980s. Girls as young as 11 have been lured from their families to be drugged, beaten and raped in an epidemic that, say victims, is still ongoing. THREE people were murdered and two others died in tragedies linked to the scandal.

The Mirror's 18-month investigation reveals abuse on unprecedented levels. We found: Social workers knew of abuse in the 1990's but police took a decade to launch a probe Council staff viewed abused and trafficked children as "prostitutes" instead of victims, according to previously unseen files

Authorities failed to keep details of abusers from Asian communities for fear of "racism"

Police failed to investigate one recent case five times until an MP intervened

One victim said cops tried to stop her finding out why her abusers had not been prosecuted because they feared she would talk to us

The scale of the abuse uncovered in Telford – population 170,000 – is feared to be the most brutal and long-running of all. The Rotherham toll was put at 1,500 – but that was in a community of 260,000. Telford's Tory MP Lucy Allan has demanded a public inquiry and said our findings were "extremely serious and shocking". She said: "There must now be an independent inquiry into child sexual exploitation in Telford so that our community can have absolute confidence in the authorities."

Specialist child abuse solicitor Dino Nocivelli, of Bolt Burdon Kemp, said: "These children were treated as sexual commodities by men who inflicted despicable acts of abuse. The survivors deserve an inquiry. They need to know how abuse took place for so long and why so many perpetrators have never been brought to justice." Our investigators have spoken to 12 victims, most of them unconnected. They accused more than 70 abusers and claimed that violent rapes were still taking place just months ago. ...

The Telford timeline of abuse

- Early 1980s Vulnerable Telford girls are targeted by groups of mainly Asian men.
- 1996 A concerned resident claims she tells police about the activities of a key abuser selling underage girls for sex.
- Late 1990's Files reveal social workers learn of the problem but do little to help.
- 2000 Lucy Lowe, 16, is killed alongside her mum and sister in an arson attack by abuser Azhar Ali Mehmood, who made her pregnant at 14.
- 2002 Abuse victim Becky Watson, 13, is killed in a road accident described as a "prank".
- 2009 Becky's friend Vicky Round dies in a drugs-related incident after enduring nine years of sex hell at the hands of a string of paedophiles.
- 2010– 2012 Police probe dubbed Operation Chalice identifies a potential 200 abusers but only nine are jailed. Two further probes collapse. ... (Britain's 'worst ever' child grooming scandal exposed: Hundreds of young girls raped, beaten, sold for sex and some even KILLED, The Sunday Mirror, 11th March 2018)

The truth is slowly coming out but how many more White girls are being criminally abused and used just whilst you were reading this article?

EBAY ADVISE CONSULTING THE JEWISH RUN - Holocaust Educational Trust before trying to sell anything heretical!

After trying to list the Allied propaganda Film - "After Mein Kampf", I received this from eBay -

"We recognize the historical significance of World War II and that there are many militaria collectors around the world. Some WWII-related historical items are permitted. However, other Nazi-related items are not allowed, particularly when there may be legal issues involved with selling these items in different countries. These prohibited items cannot be listed even if the organization's symbols are blocked, cropped, or not shown in the listing. We also don't allow certain Holocaust memorabilia items out of respect to the victims of the Holocaust and their families.

To learn more about our guidelines for Nazi and Holocaust related items, go to:

<http://pages.ebay.co.uk/help/policies/offensive.html>

For more information about Holocaust related issues, you can visit the Holocaust Educational Trust - <http://www.het.org.uk>

Permission must be got from the Holocaust Educational Trust!

They are another FAKE charity like the Campaign Against Antisemitism and the Community Security Trust - both of which have used 'charitable donations' to send British Patriots to prison!

Now I, your embattled editor am advised to seek help from the H.E.F before I can put one of my own films, owned by me and which is an Allied Propaganda Film of purely military interest.

I am told I have to wait for the H.E.F Chairman, one R. Stephen Rubin OBE to seek help and guidance for my terrible affliction - even the merest hint that the film might contain something not in line with the approved Jewish Holocaust version!

The even weirder thing is that the film "After Mein Kampf" was produced as an anti-Nazi film back in 1940 by the British Ministry of Information!

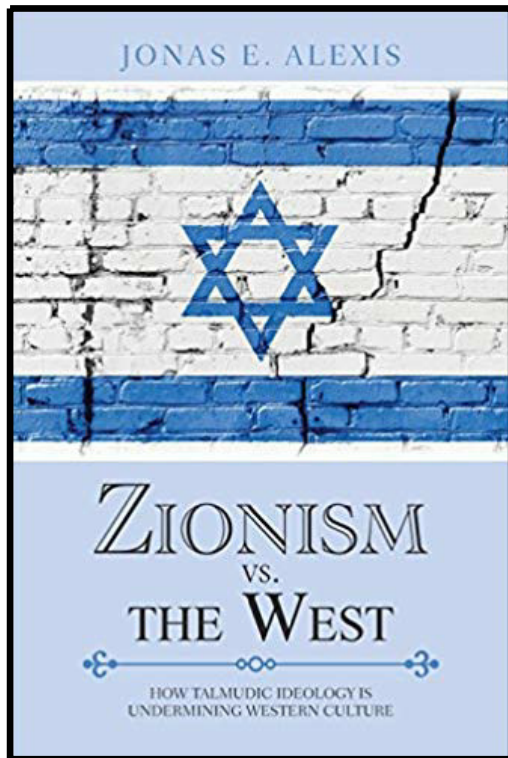

Methinks it isn't me that needs help!

Zionism vs. the West: How Talmudic Ideology is Undermining Western Culture by Jonas E. Alexis (2018)
Amazon - £4.99 Kindle edition
Paperback - £24.95

A person can be brought into bondage in two different ways: by force or by his own will. Force is a crude way of bringing a person into submission, but using the persons own free will can be done sophisticatedly and covertly. Under the banner of democracy and freedom, America has been under the bondage of what E. Michael Jones has aptly called sexual liberation and political control for over fifty years. In the first two volumes of the trilogy, Alexis explored these ideological themes. In this last volume, he expands on some of those pernicious ideas, emphasizing how Zionism, for over sixty years, has shaken the moral, philosophical, and intellectual foundation of much of Western culture. The Iraq War alone will cost America at least six trillion dollars, and as if to prove that America is still in bondage, the oppressors continue to use sophisticated means to seduce Americans so that perpetual wars will never cease to exist in the Middle East and in much of the world.

This book will seek to address these and related issues And in the process, tell us something about the fundamental nature of reality and how to approach this cosmic conflict, which has dominated the West for over a thousand years.

Jonas E. Alexis wanted to emphasize how Zionism, for over 50 years, has shaken the very foundation of much of Western culture. To prove his point, Alexis writes “Zionism vs. the West: How Talmudic Ideology is Undermining Western Culture” , the third volume in a series of books which thoroughly and scholarly discuss the problem with Zionism in the West.

The book is essentially an examination of the Zionist ideology, which, according to Alexis has already shaken the moral, philosophical and intellectual foundation of much of Western culture. It seeks to address this ideology and other related issues. In the process, it tells readers something about the fundamental nature of reality as well as how to approach this cosmic conflict, which Alexis believed has dominated the West for over a thousand years.

“This book is important precisely because we are seeing the consequences of Zionism in our time,” Alexis says. “For example, Trump has recently attacked Syria because the Assad government allegedly used chemical weapons on his own people. This is complete nonsense. The simple fact is that Assad was winning the war and he knew that using chemical weapons would destroy virtually all the good things he has done in the region.”

Since the book is a scholarly meditation, Alexis would encourage readers to pursue further research of their own. “I would highly encourage them to check out the sources and to discover that Zionism is as dangerous as Bolshevism.
